0 How to use this kit

Five prompts, used in order. Each one feeds the next.

1. Open claude.ai (or the Claude app) and start a new chat. Turn on web search if your plan has it — prompt 1 works better with it.
2. Copy a prompt, fill in the `[BRACKETS]`, send it.
3. Stay in the same chat for prompts 1–4, so Claude remembers your niche and what you picked.
4. Don't accept the first answer. Say "funnier", "shorter", "more surprising" until it's good.

> The one idea behind all of this: don't guess what people want. Find what already worked in your niche, copy its structure, and make it your own. That's how small pages grow fast.

Before you start, answer these 3

- Niche: one topic (e.g. AI tools, fitness for beginners, Telugu cooking, college life, money tips).
- Viewer: who it's for (e.g. "college students in India who want a job").
- Your format: talking to camera, faceless, animation, screen recording, memes.

1 Find what already went viral

Claude can't log in to Instagram, so you collect the reels and Claude finds the pattern. Takes 10 minutes.

First, collect 10 reels (on your phone)

1. Search your niche keyword on Instagram and open the Reels tab.
2. Find 3–5 pages in your niche. On each, open the Reels grid and look at the view counts.
3. Note down 10 reels that got far more views than that page usually gets (5–10× is a winner). Write: views · page's normal views · what happens in the first 3 seconds · the caption's first line.

Prompt 1

I run an Instagram page about [NICHE] for [VIEWER]. My format is [FORMAT].

Here are 10 reels in my niche that went viral (views vs that page's normal views, what happens in the first 3 seconds, caption first line):
1. [ ... ]
2. [ ... ]
...
10. [ ... ]

Act as a short-form content strategist.
1. Rank them by how much they beat their page's normal views.
2. For the top 5, explain WHY they worked in one line each (the emotion: curiosity, shock, relatable pain, envy, humour, "I need this").
3. Find the 3 patterns they share (topic, hook type, length, format).
4. Give me 10 video ideas for MY page that use those patterns but are NOT copies.
Keep it short. Use a table.

No time to collect? Ask instead: "Search the web for what's going viral on Instagram Reels in [NICHE] right now and give me 10 ideas." It's less accurate than your own list, but a good start.

2 Steal the structure, not the video

Reposting is stealing. Copying the structure is how every creator learns.

Almost every viral reel follows the same skeleton:

Block	Time	What it does
Hook	0–2 s	Stops the scroll: a question, a shock, a pain everyone has
Problem	2–8 s	Makes it personal: "this is you, right?"
Proof	8–15 s	Why they should believe you: a result, a number, a before/after
Payoff	15–45 s	The steps, the answer, the joke landing
Ending	last 3 s	A punchline, a twist or a reason to share/save

Take the #1 reel from your list. Break it into Hook / Problem / Proof / Payoff / Ending, with the exact seconds for each block.

Then rebuild the same structure for MY idea: "[YOUR IDEA FROM PROMPT 1]".
Keep the timing and the emotional beats. Change everything else: the topic, the words, the visuals, the joke. It must not look or sound like a copy.

3 Write 10 hooks, keep 1

The first 2 seconds decide everything. Never write one hook — write ten and kill nine.

Write 10 hooks for this video. Each must be under 12 words and work in the first 2 seconds.

Use 10 different types:
1. a question they can't ignore   2. a shocking number
3. a relatable pain               4. "nobody tells you…"
5. a bold wrong-sounding claim    6. before → after
7. a mistake they're making       8. a funny confession
9. "POV:"                         10. a challenge

Then score each one 1–10 for "would I stop scrolling" and pick the best 2. Be harsh.

Dead on arrival

"Hi guys, welcome back to my channel."
"Today I'll be talking about..."

Stops the scroll

"I posted every day for a month. 12 followers."
"You're using ChatGPT wrong. Here's proof."

4 Write the script

Short lines. One idea per line. Something changes on screen every 2–3 seconds.

Write the full script for my reel using hook #[NUMBER] and the structure from prompt 2.

Rules:
- [30-45] seconds when read out loud at a normal pace
- short spoken lines, no line longer than 12 words
- a visual change every 2-3 seconds (new shot, text, zoom, cut)
- one moment that makes people want to send it to a friend
- end on a punchline or twist, not "thanks for watching"

Format as a table: Seconds | What we see | What is said | On-screen text (max 5 words, 1 keyword in CAPS)

Then write: a caption (2 lines max), 3-5 niche hashtags, and the cover text (max 4 words).

Make it funnier: give the video two characters — one clueless, one who knows everything. Ask: "rewrite it as a conversation between a confused beginner and a genius friend, with 3 jokes and a callback at the end."

5 Make the video

Pick the route that fits your format.

Route A — you're on camera or recording your screen

Turn my script into a shot list I can film on my phone in 20 minutes.
For each shot: framing (close / medium / screen), what I do, the line, and how long it lasts.
Group shots filmed in the same place so I set up only once.
Then give me edit notes for a free app (CapCut / Instagram Edits): where to cut, where to zoom, where the captions go.

Route B — faceless, made in code (how we do it)

Make my script into a vertical 9:16 animated video using code.
Build it as one HTML page with canvas animations: one scene per line of my script, big readable captions with one yellow keyword, smooth camera moves, and something changing every 2-3 seconds.
Add a play button and make it exactly [SECONDS] seconds long so I can screen-record it on my phone.

Open the result in Claude, play it full-screen and screen-record it. For a sharper .mp4 and our 10 ready-made animation styles, see the faceless channel guide on the same link you got this kit from.

> Voice: record it yourself (most original) or use a free AI voice such as OmniVoice Studio, which runs on your own computer.

+ The comment-to-DM trick

"Comment a word and I'll DM you..." turns viewers into comments, comments into reach, and DMs into followers.

Why it works

- Comments push the reel. More comments → Instagram shows it to more people.
- The DM delivers the gift. A prompt, a PDF, a checklist — something worth saving.
- The follow gate. The DM asks them to follow first, then sends the link. That's where the followers come from.

Option 1 — a ready-made tool (easiest)

Tools like ManyChat connect to your Instagram (it must be a Professional account: Creator or Business) and send the DM for you when someone comments a keyword. Free plans are small (limited contacts); paid plans cost a monthly fee. Check the current pricing on their site.

Option 2 — build your own with Claude (free, what we use)

I want my own Instagram comment-to-DM automation, without a paid tool.
Using the official Instagram API (Meta for Developers), guide me step by step, as if I've never coded:
1. setting up a Meta developer app connected to my Instagram professional account
2. a small script that checks my newest reels' comments every few minutes
3. when a comment contains [KEYWORD], reply to the comment and send a private reply DM with a button
4. if they don't follow me yet, ask them to follow first, then send [LINK]
5. run it for free on a schedule (e.g. GitHub Actions) and never DM the same person twice Follow Instagram's rules and rate limits. Explain each step before giving code.
```

This takes an afternoon with Claude Code. Instagram only lets you message people who interacted with you first (a comment counts), so this stays within the rules.

What to give away

Whatever your video promised: the prompt, the template, the full list, the guide. Always deliver exactly what you said — that's what makes people comment on the next one too.

✔ Your 30-day plan

Days	Do this
Day 1	Pick your niche + viewer. Collect 10 viral reels. Run prompt 1.
Day 2	Pick your 5 best ideas. Run prompts 2–4 for all 5 (same chat).
Days 3–7	Make and post one a day. Same time every day.
Day 8	Check which one got the most watch time and shares. Make 3 more like it.
Days 9–14	Set up the comment-to-DM trick. Add a gift to your best idea.
Days 15–30	Repeat: 1 post a day, re-run prompt 1 every week with fresh viral reels. Double down on what works, drop what doesn't.

> The honest part: not every video will work. Most won't. One video that hits does more than 30 that don't — so post often, learn from each one, and keep the next one better.

Quick rules

- Show the result first, explain after.
- Captions on screen — most people watch without sound.
- Under 45 seconds unless the story needs more.
- Reply to every comment in the first hour.
- Never buy followers. They don't watch, and your reach drops.
